

Actions to improve Unsafe driving

At Cannon Truck Lines Inc, we are committed to improving our unsafe driving score through comprehensive driver training, incentive programs, monitoring systems, consequences for unsafe behavior, and the use of technology. By prioritizing safe driving practices and emphasizing the importance of following company policies, we are working towards creating a safer environment for both our drivers and the public.

Several steps are being taken to address the unsafe driving habits that have led to an increase in unsafe operation scores. Some of these steps include:

1. Driver training programs: Providing comprehensive training programs for drivers to educate them on safe driving practices, traffic laws, and the importance of following company policies.
2. Implementing a driver safety incentive program: Implementing a driver safety incentive program motivates drivers to maintain safe driving habits and comply with company policies. By offering rewards, such as bonuses, recognition, or other incentives, drivers are encouraged to prioritize safety on the road. This program helps reduce accidents, and improve overall fleet performance. Incentives can be based on factors like accident-free driving, adherence to speed limits, proper vehicle maintenance, and compliance of regulations. Recognizing and rewarding safe driving fosters a positive company culture, boosting driver morale and promoting long-term safety commitment.
3. Monitoring and feedback: Implementing monitoring systems to track driver behavior and provide feedback to drivers on areas where improvement is needed.
4. Enforcing consequences: Implementing consequences for drivers who consistently engage in unsafe driving behaviors, including disciplinary action, retraining, or even termination if necessary.
5. Utilizing technology: Implementing technology such as telematics devices or dash cams to monitor and measure driver behavior in real-time, providing immediate feedback to drivers and management.

6. Regular safety meetings: Holding regular safety meetings with drivers to discuss safe driving practices, review any incidents or near misses, and reinforce the importance of safe driving behavior.

By implementing these steps and emphasizing the importance of safe driving behavior, it is possible to address and reduce unsafe driving habits and ultimately improve the overall safety of the operation
